WHAT IS TINY_THEATRE?

While the world sheltered-in-place and theaters all over America suspended programming, this husband and wife team transformed a back bedroom closet into a makeshift theater with a string of christmas lights, an IKEA curtain, duck tape & a paint stirrer-- And got to streaming! CREATIVITY WILL FIND A WAY! Utilizing the philosophy that theatre only requires actors, text and audience, these professional actors get back to the basics with the help of A-lister playwright pals, writers with projects in development, and students of all ages submitting material for them to read for LIVE audiences via Facebook for free on a weekly basis. Quirky elements ranging from "calls" from a remote stage manager to their black cat Milo serving as swing technician add to the appeal.

MEET THE CREATORS...

Rachel Burttram and Brendan Powers are best friends married, professional actors, a golden comedic team and the creative geniuses (or is that genius?) of Tiny_Theatre. They've performed in a lengthy list of theatre, television, movies and commercial productions — and are long-time members of the Acting Ensemble of Florida Repertory Theatre. Bonus: These two quirky birds have gone on to create the Online Interactive Curiosities WHO KILLED ZOLAN MIZE? and THE HUNT FOR MILO GATTO for Airbnb Online Experiences - which have been enjoyed by teams from some of the world's largest companies.

BRENDAN POWERS

Brendan Powers has been acting professionally for 25 years on stages around the country, including Florida Repertory Theatre, where he is a member of the Acting Ensemble. His television credits include FBI Agent Rick Cranston on Graceland (USA Network), and David Weller in the Netflix original series, Bloodline. If you enjoy exploring southern United States, you may have seen him driving a classic baby blue Caddie in an award-winning series of commercials for Alabama Road Trips, an effort of the Alabama Department of Tourism. And not only can the dude act — he can wordsmith, as his cartoon captions have been winners for various contests including The New Yorker, Hartford Courant, Denver Post, Moment Magazine, Clinical Psychology, Inside Higher Ed, and the Greensboro News-Record. He looks forward to seeing you at Tiny_Theatre — or, more accurately, he looks forward to you seeing him and his loving partner in crimes and in life, Rachel Burttram.

RACHEL BURTTTRAM

Rachel could have never imagined that an industry-wide shut down during a pandemic would open so many doors and opportunities — but creativity will find a way. As theatre-maker and leader in not-for-profit artistic organizations, Rachel has worn many hats from Production Manager of a major award-winning outdoor festival to Interim Executive Director of a regional theatre. As an actor, she has tread the boards in New York City and regional theatres across the U.S. including Florida Repertory Theatre where she's a long-time member of their Acting Ensemble. On screen, Rachel can be seen as Betty Grisson on Disney+ The Right Stuff, Netflix's Bloodline, USA's Burn Notice and the starring role in Emma's Fine seen in film festivals in 23 countries. But if you want to solve the riddle of her favorite pastime — just look at her hands and you'll spy an avid gardener! Oh, and after the show is over in the evenings, she can be found enjoying documentaries while wearing paper facial masks. Don't ask.
